Signature Sounds - The Music of WWE

On DVD from Monday 31st Aug. 2015.

Fast sell:

A look at the classic and much-loved theme songs from WWE and how they've become an important part of what it means to be a true WWE Superstar!

Synopsis:

Music has been integral in WWE history, especially anthems for all the greatest WWE Superstars. Since Sgt. Slaughter first made his entrance to the Marine Corp hymn in the early 80s, music themes have become synonymous with the WWE Superstars.

Just hearing the first few notes brings the crowd to their feet. They are the songs that let the WWE Universe know that business truly is about to pick up. Now, get behind the music and learn the inside story behind the timeless anthems of WWE and its Superstars.

The DVD features interviews with the man behind the music, Jim Johnston, who composes all WWE music, and 25 memorable tracks.

Music Highlights:

Batista – “I walk alone”

“Stone Cold” Steve Austin – “I won’t do what you tell me”

We like it because:

Since the early days of WrestleMania, the WWE Superstars have been amongst the world’s most popular athletes – and the music of WWE has been a huge part of creating that popularity.

And this set pays reverence to music right across WWE history, from nostalgic favourites such as the Ultimate Warrior’s chord-chunching theme, through DX’s tune with an attitude, to John Cena’s own thugamonic sound.

But best of all, this DVD takes you behind the scenes to see how the songs are put together and developed – and just what goes in to creating a larger than life WWE Superstar!
