The Carrier

Buckle up for an outbreak of terror at 30,000 Feet!

On DVD from Monday 25th Jan. 2016.

Fast sell:

What would you do to survive when anyone could be a carrier?

With civilisation on the brink of extinction, there's only one way to ensure survival and that's kill or be killed. Take to the skies in a stolen 747 where cabin fever becomes reality, fuel runs low and tempers flare.

When nature stacks the deck against you, will you turn against your neighbour, your mother, your father or your siblings, in order to live?

Everyone is a potential threat, isolation is key but there's no escape at 30,000 feet...

Key talent:

Jack Gordon (Northern Soul, Love Me Do)

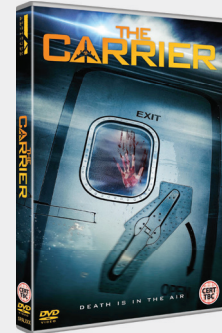

Karen Bryson (Cuffs, Shameless, The Bill)

Edmund Kingsley (Stonehearst Asylum)

Synopsis:

When a devastating infection spreads across the entire world, causing chaos and collapsing civilisation as we know it, the only safe place is in the air.

A cabin crew escapes on a damaged 747 bound for Greenland but not all the passengers are as healthy as they seem... When the plane is sabotaged, the ragtag group of survivors are forced to land in an England tearing itself apart and ravaged by disease. The crew are faced with impossible life or death decisions which force them to confront their past, face their fears and fight for their very survival.

We like it because:

The Carrier is 30,000 feet of tension, with tight direction and a great cast making the most of the budget with an expert blend of suspense, horror and drama playing out in a welcome addition to the outbreak genre.
